INTRUDERS FROM CHINA

THE report that a tug seized two junks in Castle Peak Bay and towed them away will cause considerable disquiet throughout the Colony. From the facts so far available this does not appear to be a case of piracy of the kind which Hongkong has experienced recently. It looks like a case of abduction instigated by the Chinese authorities, and if Police inquiries confirm this impression, the Hongkong authorities will have to take a serious view of the case.

Chinese tugs are not an uncommon sight in Hongkong waters. They come here regularly, often towing barges and junks with cargo. It is not yet known whether the tug in question was authorised to enter Colony waters on legitimate business. But towing away a couple of junks which had apparently just escaped from the mainland, constitutes a serious infringement of the Colony's sovereignty.

More Patrols

THERE have been reports recently of Chinese armed patrol vessels entering Hongkong waters to attack fishing boats. The authorities have generally not been able to fully authenticate them because of the difficulty of determining exactly where the incidents occurred. But they should not, because of this, be dismissed without some thought being given to ensuring local waters against violation.

The patrols we carry out at present are inadequate. Our coast line is not long but if we are going to maintain a thorough and regular night and day patrol, we need more vessels. People might ask whether we could make better use of our naval launches, eight of which were tied up in the Naval dockyard yesterday afternoon. We need intensive patrolling for another reason: to deter junks bringing in illegal immigrants at night. We need patrol boats equipped with searchlights, we need speeded exit and entry points for night fishing craft and a system of inspection which would make refugee running a more risky business than it is today.

The Problems

THERE are problems of course in patrolling our own waters thoroughly. We have no way of determining whether fishing boats chased into our waters are vessels of our own fleet or of China's. But we cannot allow infractions of our own waters, whatever the reason for pursuit.

And we must also ensure the safety of our own waters to all craft that come here, whether we welcome them or not. If their presence here is undesirable, expulsion is the remedy. Violations of the kind which occurred in Castle Peak Bay on Tuesday make our authority look pretty hollow.

Cheap Fare Service From HK To London

Eagle Aviation Ltd. of London has been granted an excursion fare route between Hongkong and London, it was announced today.

However, the airline will not be able to operate over the route until a decision has been made by the Ministry of Transport and Civil Aviation in London.

West's Plan Under Fire By Russia

London, May 14. The official Soviet news agency Tass today attacked the Western peace plan presented at the Geneva conference as "based on obsolete conceptions."

The Tass report of today's meeting of the Big Four Foreign Ministers, broadcast by Moscow radio and monitored here, said the Western plan's "obsolete" conceptions ignore the existence of two German states.

The proposals of the USA, Britain and France, contrary to the agreement of the four powers on the tasks and agenda of the Geneva conference, provide for a simultaneous study of many complicated international problems which hinder a speedy solution of the German peace treaty," the report said.—UPI.

Mr Gorter

Geneva, May 14. Russian spokesmen here caused some chuckles today when they referred to remarks by Mr Gorter. It turns out they meant U.S. Secretary of State Christian Herter.

But they say it "Gorter," as there is no letter "H" in the Russian alphabet. In translation, all foreign H's come out as G's.

Thus, the Russians always referred to the late leader of Nazi Germany as Adolf Giller, and to one former American President as Gerbert Goover.

Not forgetting, naturally, Missouri's Garry Truman.—UPI.

KASSEM QUILTS U.S. AID PACT

Eisenhower Doctrine Repudiated

Beirut, May 14. Iraqi Premier Karim Kassem said today his country will withdraw from the Eisenhower Doctrine "as of this week."

Iraq pledged its support of the Eisenhower Doctrine, offering U.S. help for any Middle Eastern country which requested it, under the regime of King Faisal and Premier Nuri Es Said, toppled in the July revolt which put Kassem in power.

"We will defend our soil with our own force," he said. Kassem said Iraq would remain neutral between East and West.

"We will work for strengthening friendship with the Communist states," he said. "We are also friendly of the Western states who wish to befriend us. We do not want to be on aggressive country."

False Tears
"Those who shed false tears for Iraq," because communism dominated this country should weep for themselves, I declare to the entire world that we are friends of the Communist countries, and I personally shall actively work to promote this friendship.

"But at the same time, we shall work in accordance with the interests of the homeland... the national rule will control the country. Nobody from outside it should interfere in the governing of this country or in its affairs," Kassem said.—UPI.

Reds Wavering
A Beirut newspaper claimed today that Iraqi Communists were wavering in their support of Premier Kassem.

The Baathist daily Shahfa, one of Kassem's bitterest opponents, said the British agent to supply Kassem with arms indicated "the Iraqi leader's desire to liberate himself from the Communists' hold on him and establish a balance between the support he gets from imperialism and that which he gets from the eastern bloc."—UPI.

'Denmark Without Hamlet'

New York, May 14. India's Ambassador to the United States, Mahomed Ali Jinnah, said today that the United Nations without China "is like America without Texas or Denmark without Hamlet."—UPI.

He said this after a visit to the city which now has a population of 10 million.

"But it is no longer a gay city," he said. "All the nightclubs are closed and the famous racetrack is now a people's club." Mr. Jinnah added that he had stayed at the Park Hotel, which once carried a sign saying "No Chinese or dogs admitted."

The successful application by Eagle Aviation was reported this morning in the Hongkong Government Gazette.

Two other applications by Airwork Ltd. and Hunsdon Air Transport Ltd. for a similar low-fare route were refused by the Air Transport Licensing Authority on the grounds that all the traffic expected would be absorbed by Eagle Aviation.

DC6 Planes
The Gazette notified that the airline will operate the route once a fortnight, increasing to once a week on demand, with DC6 aircraft.

The licence has been granted for a period of three years, conditional upon review after 12 and 24 months from the date of issue, as to the frequency of flights and the type of aircraft used.

The route will be via Aden. The timetable will be notified later.

This morning the China Mail contacted a number of travel agents and airline executives.

The two are sharply divided. The travel agents for and the airlines against the decision.

Not Beneficial
An airline manager who asked to remain unidentified, said this morning he was surprised that the licence had been granted.

"It is not at all beneficial in Hongkong, and I am afraid it will set a precedent."

Doce, who contested the application, still oppose the granting of the low-fare service, on the same grounds which they advanced at the public hearing of the Licensing Authority in Hongkong and London.

The two main points they hold, are that it would be a serious loss of revenue to Doce which could cause a reduction of frequencies to Hongkong, and secondly the granting of a low-fare service undermines the International Air Transport Association's fare structure.

Depends On UK
A Doce spokesman pointed out this morning that Eagle Aviation may have been granted the licence here, but whether they can operate the route or not, depends on the decision of the Ministry of Transport and Civil Aviation in London.

This was confirmed by Mr. J. G. O'Donnell, Pan-American World Airways' regional director, in against the low-fare service.

He pointed out that PAA was unopposed by this service as they are not allowed to carry passengers between Hongkong and London, but as a representative of IATA, he shares Doce's apprehension, in view of the money, time and work they have put into making this route successful.

MOLOTOV TELLS 'WHY I TURNED DOWN POST IN NETHERLANDS'

Moscow, May 14. Mr V. M. Molotov has told a visitor why he turned down the job of Soviet Ambassador to the Netherlands.

Mr Molotov, former Soviet Foreign Minister who fell into disgrace as a member of an anti-party group in 1957, is reported to have admitted he was considered as Ambassador to the Hague.

Not Wanted

But, he said, he did not want to go "because I was not wanted there."

Reports that Molotov might be named Ambassador to the Netherlands touched off sharp controversy in the Netherlands press and Parliament last year.

Mr G. P. Malalasekera, Ceylonese Ambassador here, quoted Mr Molotov as saying he was "very happy" as Soviet Ambassador to Outer Mongolia, the appointment which followed his denouement.

He said Mr Molotov made the remarks during a visit Mr Malalasekera paid to the Mongolian capital of Ulan Bator on his way back to Moscow from China.

Looked Younger
Molotov told him that his present post was interesting, with many problems, and that he had "no attachments and no regrets."

Mr Malalasekera said "Molotov looked younger and in better health than ever before."

Asked whether he was writing his memoirs, Molotov replied: "No, I'm busy."

Mr Malalasekera said he discussed Chinese communists with Mr Molotov. He told him that they were more successful than had been described.

Failed
Mr Molotov expressed interest in the Chinese communists, but said similar experiments in Russia in the early years after the revolution had failed.

Mr Malalasekera also said that during his visit to China he had asked Premier Chou En-lai whether the question of the Tibetan uprising had been much discussed in Peking.

He said Chou replied: "Yes, but I cannot talk about it for the moment."—All agencies.

ANITA EKBERG GETS DIVORCE

Santa Monica, May 14. Anita Ekberg was today granted a divorce when she testified that her actor husband, Anthony Steele, was insanely jealous and fought with waiters and newspaper photographers.

The 28-year-old actress told Superior Judge Edward R. Brand that Steele, 38, grilled her with questions when she returned from work, demanding to know whom she had talked to at the studio.

On one occasion, she said, her husband became involved in an argument with a photographer in New York.

"He chased him to blocks down the street while other photographers took pictures of the incident," she testified.

Hospital
During the hearing at the divorce court here Miss Ekberg said that her husband had often embarrassed her in front of friends by making jealous scenes, and that they eventually could no longer receive guests.

She said this had made her so nervous she had had to have hospital treatment.

Miss Ekberg's secretary confirmed this statement and said the couple frequently quarrelled in public. She added that Steele tried to impose rules of behaviour on Miss Ekberg.

"He did not ask for alimony saying she could keep herself. She married Steele in 1955 in Florence and they separated last January. There are no children. Steele did not attend the trial and did not contest the divorce."—APR.

JUNKS SAID CHASED BY ARMED CRAFT

A Government spokesman said this morning the police had received no report on the alleged chase and attack of fishing junks south of Hongkong.

A local report said that over 30 Hongkong fishing junks in the waters off Po Toi Island on Wednesday afternoon had been machine-gunned by an armed motor junk in a three-and-a-half-hour chase up to Stanley Bay.

The junks were fishing at about 4 p.m. when they spotted the motorised junk armed with three machine-guns, the report said.

The first junk which started the run for Hongkong was chased and sprayed with machine-gun fire but as it got away, the armed vessel turned upon five other junks, starting a hot pursuit, the report went on.

U.S. TO BUILD GIANT ATOM-SMASHER

New York, May 14. President Eisenhower said tonight he had approved a plan to construct a two-mile long atom smasher—the largest of its kind in the world.

He said the new research unit would cost $100 million ($35,700,000) and would take six years to build, at Stanford University in California.

Speaking at a symposium on basic scientific research, he said this followed a proposal made by a panel of scientists which undertook a comprehensive review of the U.S. Government's participation in nuclear physics field.

The President said that physicists believed that the project "promises to make valuable contributions to our understanding in a field in which the U.S. already is strong, and in which we must maintain our progress."—Reuter.

LANCASHIRE FEARS HK IN 1961

Manchester, May 14. Leaders of the 60,000-strong Weavers Amalgamation—the largest trade union in the British cotton industry—today expressed fears about the trade situation when the limit exports pledge by Hongkong comes to an end in three years.

In their annual report issued in Manchester, Mr Harold Bradley, the Union President, and Mr Lewis Wright, General Secretary, said: "Even now, before the ink is dry on the paper, we are wondering what is going to happen at the end of the period."

"If Hongkong finds she is losing markets to China, will she want to increase her imports into the United Kingdom?"

"We must remember that what we have got is 'undertakings'—and the Hongkong Colony is going to look after itself as much as the British Government has failed to look after Lancashire."

"It might well be that the peak of Asiatic textile development has been reached."

"But if Hongkong finds other markets barred to her or if she loses her markets to China or any other competitors, then clearly what was exported elsewhere will come to us."

"It is to be hoped that the government in power three years hence still resists any efforts to increase the export figures laid down in the undertaking."—Reuter.

U.S. Engine Bigger Than Russian

Cleveland, May 14. Dr. Werner von Braun, the Army's top missile expert, said today that the huge super-booster engine of 1,500,000 pounds thrust now under development by the Army is bigger than anything yet demonstrated by the Russians.

The big engine, consisting of a cluster of eight Jupiter-type engines, is scheduled to be test-flown for the first time next year.

"This is bigger than our competition has yet demonstrated," von Braun said. "With that kind of basic unit, it will be possible to orbit such heavy payloads as a communications satellite to provide world-wide transmission for the Strategic Air Command, the Navy and the Army.—UPI.

The cone withstood temperatures estimated at 12,000 degrees Fahrenheit as it plunged into earth's atmosphere after a 5,500-mile-an-hour flight at 15,000 miles an hour. It was recovered on April 8 in the South Atlantic.—UPI.

New York, May 14. Assistant Secretary of Commerce for International Affairs, Mr. Henry Kearns today said protectionism was harming the American consumer and depriving him of a higher standard of living.

Mr. Kearns recently visited Hongkong to ask Colony steel goods manufacturers to diversify their exports to the United States or face the possibility of import restrictions.

No Doubt.
In an address prepared for the annual meeting of the U.S. National Association of Wool Manufacturers, he said: "There can be no doubt that it is the American consumer who suffers most from the imposition of trade barriers," he said. "Every time we raise barriers against imports from another country, some or many American exporters take the consequences."

"Protectionism has priced itself out of the market. With its resulting loss in sales and friends abroad, with the injustice it imposes upon the American consumer, demands for excessive import restrictions must be weighed against their cost."

Recalling his recent visit to Japan and Hongkong where he discussed textile problems with various government and business leaders, Mr. Kearns said:

Difficult
"In both countries I found that it was difficult for the local citizens to understand why the United States was interfering with their export patterns, particularly when their purchase of goods from the United States exceeded exports to the United States by millions of dollars each year."

"Manufacturers in Hongkong were quick to point out that they sold only those products to the United States for which there is a buyer. Naturally, if there were no American consumer taste for Hongkong products, no problems would arise, except for the economic loss suffered in both countries through the lack of mutually concluded.—Reuters.

Blasted By Gunman

Melbourne, May 14. Police believe that a murder victim knew the man who shot him but refused to tell the police in the two hours before he died last night.

Patrick Francis Maloney, 34, of a Melbourne suburb would only whisper "I don't know" when police asked him repeatedly to name the gunman who blasted him in the stomach with a shotgun at the door of his home.

Marks on the door show that Maloney tried desperately to slam the door on the gunman before he was shot, police said today.

The killer, dressed in a leather overcoat, then stepped into the narrow hall of the house and was battering Maloney on the head with the gun.

But when Maloney's wife came from the back of the house, the man left without speaking to her and drove off.—China Mail Special.

STERN TEST FOR SINGAPORE

Singapore, May 14. The Governor of Singapore, Sir William Goode, said today the people of the island realised self-government was a stern test of competence and responsibility.

The Governor was speaking at a dinner of the Overseas League.

Singapore is to get home rule after general elections at the end of this month.

"To me, there is a marked change in the general tone of election speeches now and four years ago," the Governor said.

TAKE HEART
"All the parties speak not of Merdeka (freedom) and repealing repressive legislation and throwing the British into the sea, but of stable and competent government, of expanding trade and industry and of finding employment for our bustling population."

The Governor said: "In tackling our problems, let us take heart from the fact that Singapore is not alone in the world. We belong to the British Commonwealth; we have friends who have no evil designs upon us, but are there willing and ready to help us just because we belong to the same family."—Reuters.

Pilgrimage To Europe's War Graves

Capetown, May 14. The Union Castle liner Stirling Castle, with a special "pilgrimage standard" of the British Commonwealth ex-Servicemen's League at her foremast, has sailed from here carrying 400 relatives and friends of South Africans who were killed in action in two world wars.

The pilgrims are bound for the battlefields of Europe, and will visit war cemeteries in Germany, Belgium, France, Italy and Britain. Earl Mountbatten will meet them at Southampton, and later they expect to be received at Buckingham Palace by the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Among the pilgrims is Mrs. Perla Gibson, remembered by many soldiers of the Second World War as "the Lady in White" who sang South Africa's farewell to them as their troops left port for the theatres of war.—China Mail Special.

Bankrupt Man Goes Berserk: Kills 2

Limerick, Maine, May 14. Police bullets tonight killed a bankrupt Maine businessman who had murdered his wife and a police chief and barricaded himself in his home.

A state policeman, in charge of the siege operations, said the body of Gordon Hamlin, 45, had been removed from the house where he had made his futile stand.

Two state troopers were also wounded, one critically.

Hamlin fatally shot his wife, Rose, as she ran across the street seeking refuge in the home of her mother.

Westbrook police chief Pierre A. Harnois, a former Federal Bureau of Investigation Agent, was shot and killed as he tried to persuade Hamlin to surrender.

State trooper Steven Regina was shot in the stomach and left in a critical condition.

Two other troopers ran into the line of Hamlin's fire to remove the fallen Regina to safety.

State police, sheriff's deputies and local police from throughout the county surrounded the white frame, two-story home. —UPI.

Probe Into Crew's Snooze

Hamburg, May 14. A high-level investigation is being made into the off-duty activities of West German police following the discovery of the crew of a police radio patrol car fast asleep on duty in a main Hamburg square.

A police spokesman said here that about half the 24,000 vehicles exported through Hamburg each year were driven to the port by police drivers working in their spare time. The spokesman said about 4,000 policemen were involved, and in Hamburg alone, about 400 were awaiting disciplinary action. —China Mail Special.

Moscow, May 14. The Soviet Premier, Mr. Khrushchev, said today: "We are doing everything to secure good results at the Geneva conference."

In a speech at Kishinev, he said that it was essential first to settle the most important questions — the preservation of peace and the conclusion of a peace treaty with both German states.

Mr. Khrushchev said that, apparently at the first Geneva meeting, it would hardly be possible to achieve agreement on many unsolved questions, because the two sides were adhering to different positions.

Regarding German unification, Mr. Khrushchev again stressed that this was a question concerning the Germans themselves, Tass said.

He added: "The governments of the Western powers do not at present recognize the German Democratic Republic, but as the saying goes, time passes and people become wiser.

Khrushchev "Doing everything"

"Certain states which at present do not recognize the Korean People's Republic and the German Democratic Republic will one day knock at their doors with words of recognition."

He said it was difficult to imagine what aim West German Foreign Minister Doctor Heinrich von Brentano was pursuing by refusing to meet in the same room Dr. Boltz, the East German Foreign Minister.

"I think sooner or later von Brentano will have to meet representatives of the German Democratic Republic. He cannot escape it," Mr. Khrushchev said.

"If the Western powers will not sign a peace treaty with Germany, then the Soviet Union will sign a peace treaty with the German Democratic Republic," he said.

"I think that not only we, but also other socialist countries which have been in a state of war against Germany, will sign the treaty, and perhaps the treaty will be signed also by some non-socialist countries."

Mr. Khrushchev said the German Democratic Republic was an eastern neighbour of Poland and Czechoslovakia.

After the signature of a treaty between Germany and these countries, and apparently with the other countries, a stable peace would be ensured on this frontier.

"This is a very great issue," he said.

On West Berlin, Mr. Khrushchev said: "West Berlin must become a free city," and added that Russia did not want to meddle in the life of the West Berlin population.

"The German Democratic Republic guarantees the links between the free city and all countries with which its population wants to deal," Mr. Khrushchev said. —Reuters.

Veronica Sees The Queen—And Sobs

London, May 14. Eleven-year-old Veronica Martineau travelled all the way from Massachusetts to London to see the Queen — and then collapsed in a flood of tears in her mother's arms outside Buckingham Palace when the monarch smiled at her.

There were hundreds of children outside the palace but the Queen appeared to have a special interest for Veronica.

Early in March, Veronica, whose home is a mansion, Mass., wrote to the Queen saying how much she would "love to see her."

She received a reply from a Lady-in-waiting telling her that if she could be at the Palace Gates at 11 a.m. on a certain day, she would see the Queen drive out to fulfill an engagement.

Tried To Smile

When the Queen appeared, Veronica tried as her mother bade her, to wave. She tried to take a snapshot of the Queen with a new camera.

She also tried to return the smile the Queen gave her. But bewildered with excitement, Veronica collapsed and wept.

She was embraced by her mother and was soon smiling again.

"I saw the Queen and I'm sure she saw me," she said. "She was just as wonderful as I had imagined her." —China Mail Special.

CONTINENTAL FILM FAVOURED TO WIN TOP AWARD

Cannes, May 14. A French-Portuguese film is favoured to win top prize in the Cannes International Film Festival.

It is "Orfeu Negro," produced by Marcel Camus and shot in Brazil. Awards for the 12th festival are to be announced tomorrow night.

Actors tipped for awards are American Frederic March for "In the Middle of the Night," and Italian Anna Magnani for "Hell in the City."

French actress Simon Signoret is running a close second for her acting in "Room at the Top."

Other films expected to win awards are the Bulgarian "Stern" ("The Stars"), the British "Room at the Top," the Venezuelan documentary "Araya," and the French "Les 400 Coups."

This evening the Soviet film "The Birthplace" was shown, the last film officially to be shown at the Cannes Festival. The film is directed by L. Kulljanov who won a prize at last year's Brussels film festival with "The House in Which I Live." The Cannes audience warmly applauded the film. —AFP.

Police Swoop On Gambling Syndicate

Washington, May 14. Federal tax agents arrested 31 people in six cities today in a series of precisely-timed raids aimed at wiping out a nationwide gambling syndicate. The sweep netted 12 people in Los Angeles, six each in San Francisco and New York, four in Middletown, Ohio, two in Lexington, Kentucky, and one in Niagara Falls, New York.

The Internal Revenue Service said eight more warrants remained to be served in the drive against alleged bookmakers and lottery operators.

If convicted, the arrested men face fines of $10,000 and jail terms of up to five years. The tax agents noted piles of bookmaking records, lottery boards, gambling equipment and cash in addition to their prisoners. One of the men arrested was carrying $8,000 in cash.

The seized records were expected to lead to further arrests, officials said. —UPI.

BABY HAS HEART ON WRONG SIDE

Bristol, May 14. Surgeons in Bristol Children's Hospital are considering operating on a seven-month-old baby girl with a "one in a million" ailment — her heart is on her right side.

The child, Helen Druce, has other vital organs misplaced and is reckoned to have only a 50-50 chance of surviving the operation.

For the past six months she has been in a hospital in Guernsey.

The doctor who has been attending Helen said it was not yet known if an operation would be possible. The girl's condition was fair but she was very much under weight.

Helen is the third child of Mr and Mrs David Druce of Castel, Guernsey.

When Helen was born, it was thought she might be a "blue baby" and it was not until she was six or seven weeks old that the heart was found to be misplaced. —China Mail Special.

The Wild Ones—Godiva Style

Foote, Eng., May 14. Police here are inquiring into complaints that youths have been riding motorcycles along Foote's mile-long main thoroughfare at night—sneaked.

Three incidents have been reported this week.

Police said a group of young men are believed to have dared each other to make the ride for a wager of 30 shillings. The rider is "screamed" by two motor cars—one on either side—and a passenger in one of the cars has an overcoat ready to throw to him if anything goes wrong. —China Mail Special.

How To Mow The Lawn—Sitting Down

London, May 14. British science has at long last achieved the gardener's age-old dream — a machine which will cut the lawn while he relaxes in the shade of a tree.

The machine, a radio-controlled lawnmower, is to be demonstrated at London's Chelsea Flower Show later this month, in an exhibit called "the garden of the future."

Shops will probably be selling the model next year for about £20.

A Daily Mail writer, reporting the invention, recalls that only three weeks ago he wrote about an American firm which had promised to produce a self-operating mower within 10 years.

The remote control lawnmower is an adapted 14 inch motor mower with the front roller and the engine removed. Motors replace the roller and two 12 volt batteries and an electric motor replace the petrol engine.

What looks like a walkie-talkie radio set gives remote control. Switches start and stop the mower and control direction.

"Not A Stunt"

The batteries do five hours' mowing before they have to be recharged. Mr. Monty Allen, a Woking, Surrey, engineer, who has played a big part in the development is quoted as saying: "The snags have been overcome and trials have been a great success." "This is not a stunt. It is a practical machine and perfectly reliable." But it has one drawback—the operator has to get out of the deckchair occasionally to empty the grass box. —China Mail Special.

No Bomb

Bristol, May 14. A three-men bomb disposal team sped 150 miles from Hensham, Sussex, to Bristol and unearthed — the remains of a wash-bowler.

They had been called in by Bristol police when schoolboys noticed the end of a large metal object sticking from the ground in a disused orchard and rumours flew around that it was an unexploded bomb. —China Mail Special.

V-Bombers Track "Death Dust"

By PETER EARLE

London. A ROYAL AIR FORCE V-bomber force has been ordered to plot the radioactive stream which is passing over Britain and has doubled the fall-out, as revealed recently by Mr Harold Macmillan, the British Prime Minister, in the House of Commons.

Vulcan and Victor bombers flying at enormous heights are heading deliberately into the fall-out "streams" to check their intensity and plot their courses.

The fall-out "streams" are believed to have been caused by stratosphere detonation of "dirty" H-bombs by the Russians last autumn.

I can reveal that V-bombers have been getting radioactivity checks after their training missions, and it is this force which has been the mainstay of the British watch on fall-out.

Great secrecy surrounds this work and the British Air Ministry will only confirm that tests on planes are also carried out when they have actually flown through areas where bomb trials have been held—like Christmas Island in the Pacific Ocean.

Planes have been ranging great distances, at heights which are secret because it would reveal the operational "ceiling" of Britain's bombers.

Despite the reassurance by Prime Minister Macmillan that, although fall-out had doubled in the past year it was still well below danger level, no chances are being taken by scientists who are relying largely on the Royal Air Force for help.

A routine watch is being kept on jet air-liners.

Last February, when a Boeing 707 developed trouble and dived steeply, it was found when the plane was examined for stress that it was radioactive.

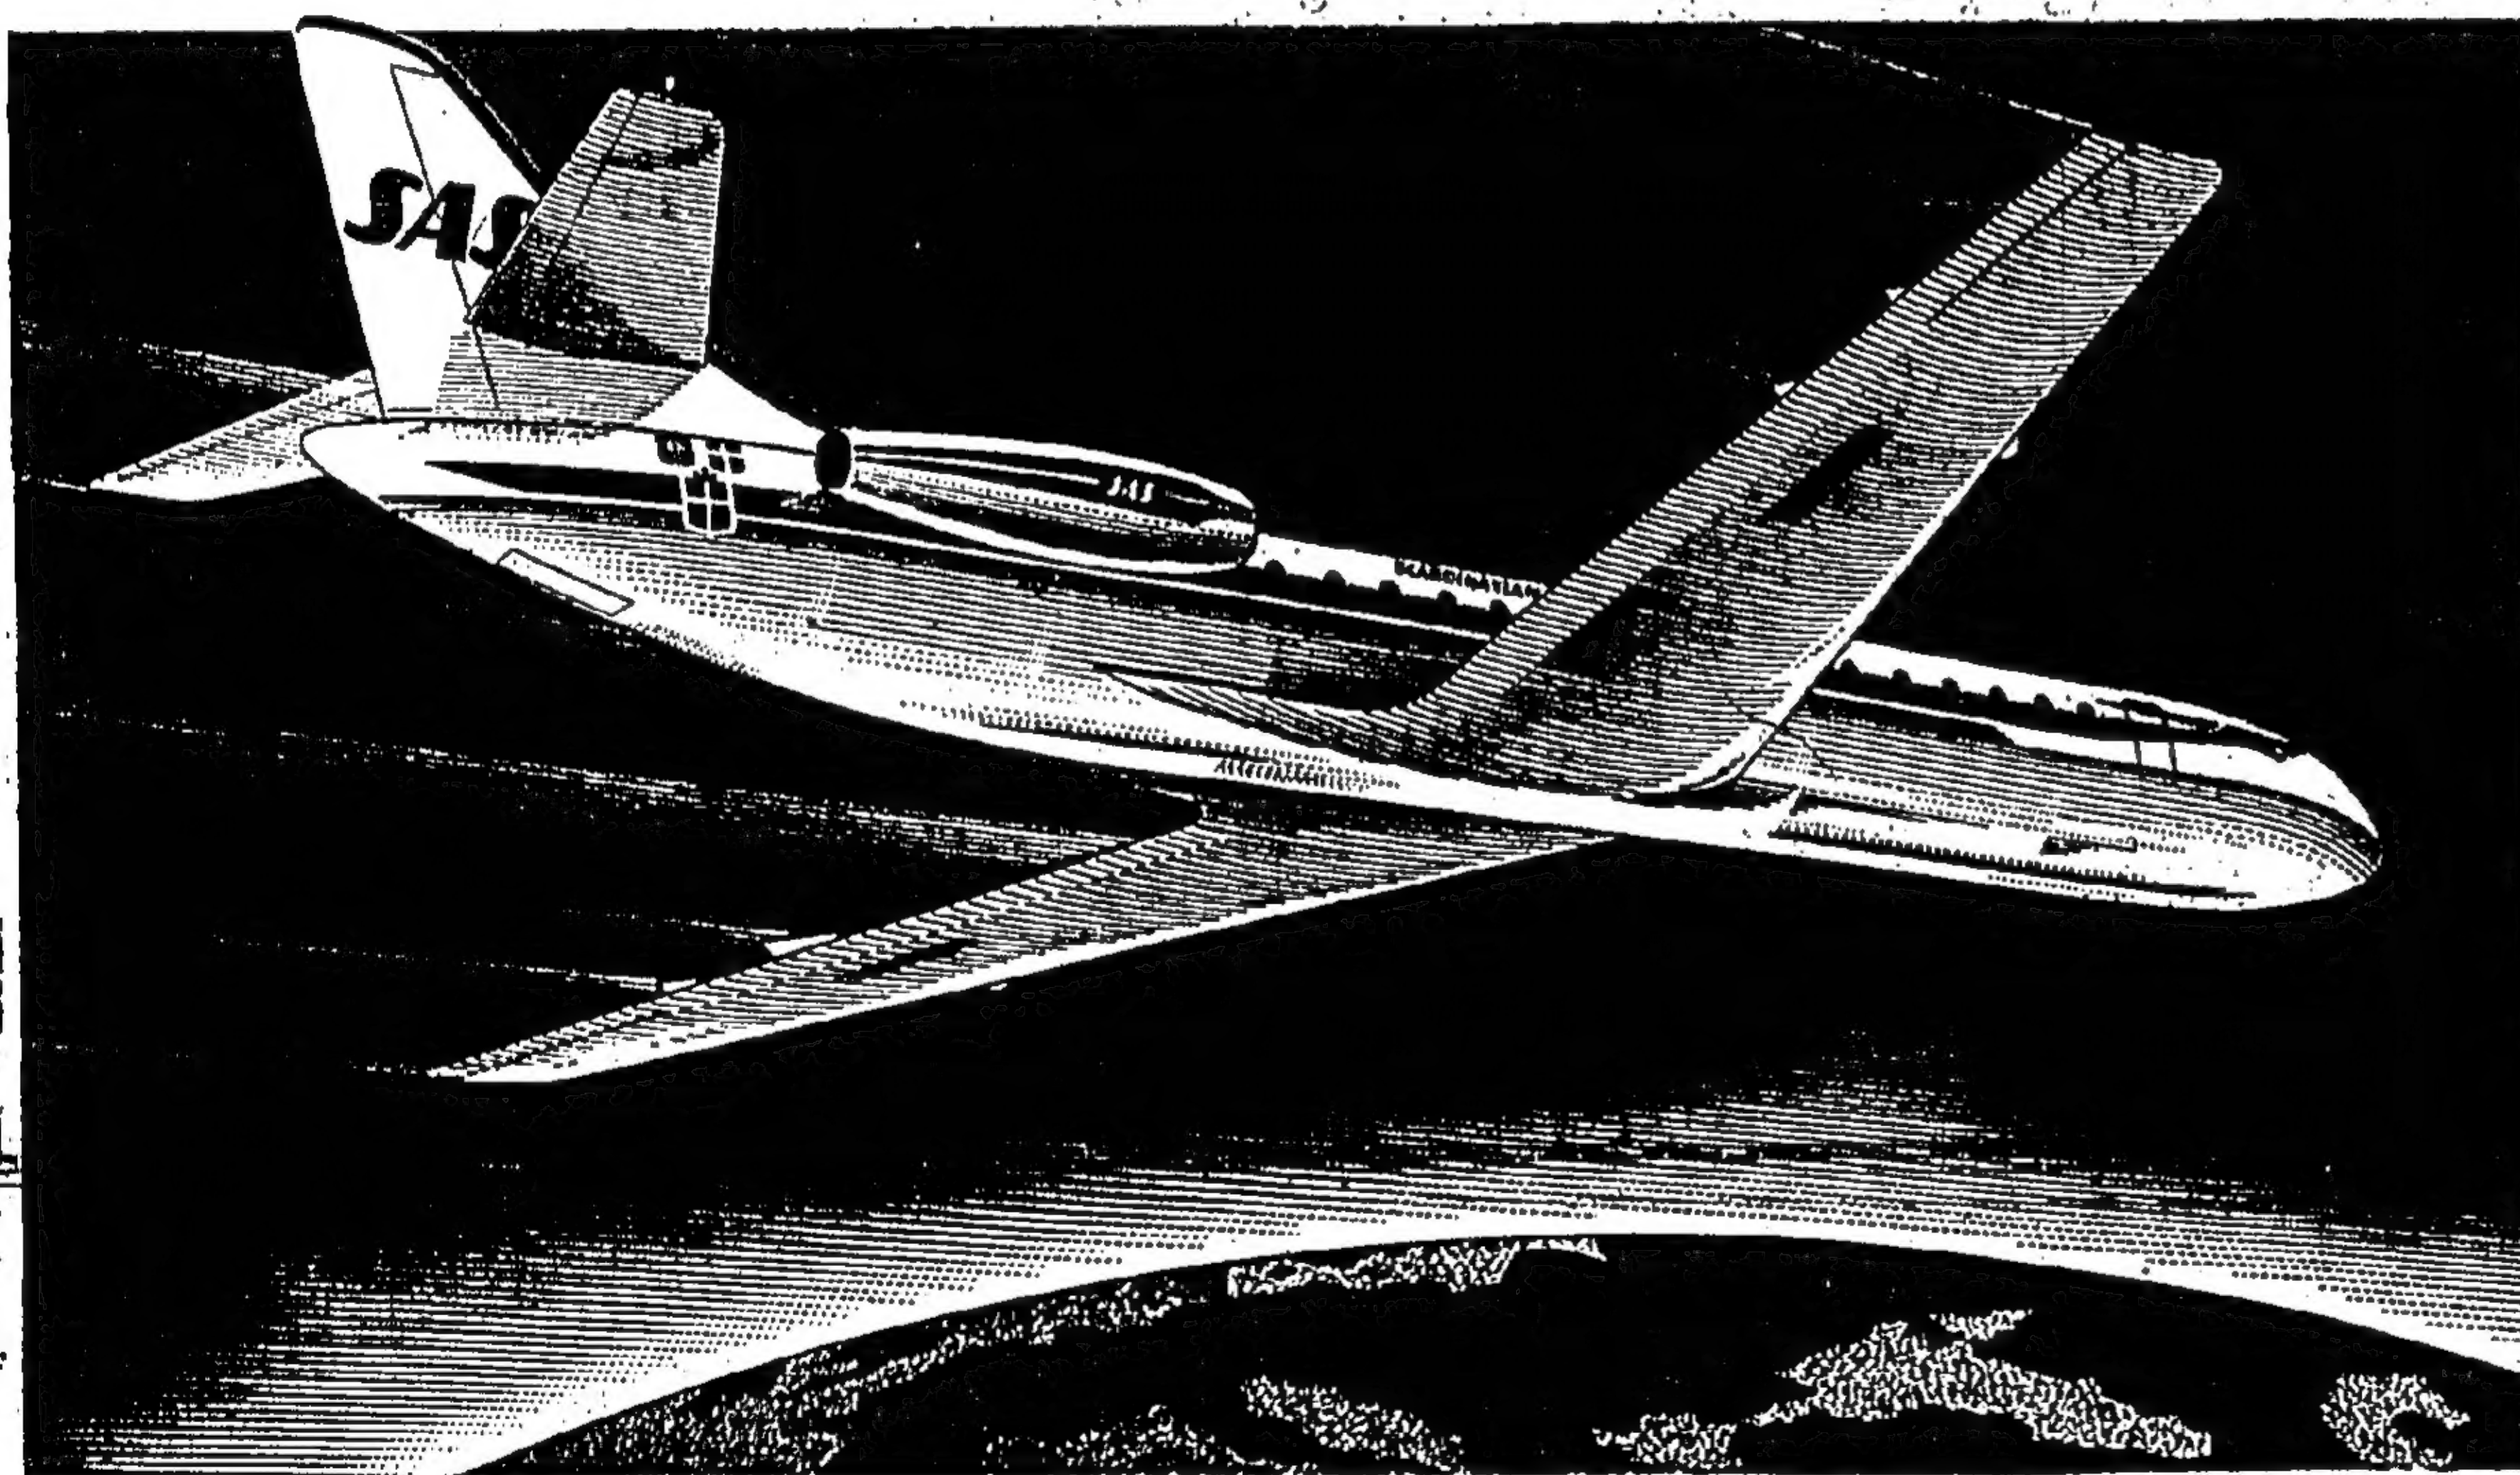

Said a British Overseas Airways Corporation spokesman: "Minute amounts of fall-out of a harmless nature have been found."

"Well, I'll be blown if I see why we can't talk at top level before you get down to the summit!"

The Queen Mother Has A Busy Season Ahead

WHAT an incredible woman the Queen Mother is! Next month the Queen goes off to Canada and with her departure begins a busier time for her mother.

Not that life is ever light for the Queen Mother.

Looking at the royal diary of the season, I find that, apart from the Queen, she tops the list with 27 official engagements as against Princess Margaret's 22, the Duchess of Kent's 17, the Duchess of Gloucester's 13 and Princess Alexandra's 11.

For, in her 60th year, the Queen Mother is having her biggest public success since she was Queen consort. People just can't get enough of her.

By GWEN ROBYNS

Looking into the whole question of royal invitation, I find that each one is a personal affair. It simply isn't a question of so many hundreds of invitations divided up and given to who does what best.

Personal

In each case, it is a personal request. And if one member of the Royal Family can't accept for one reason or another then the committee has to start again and approach the private secretary of their second choice.

Talking to an official at Buckingham Palace, I was told that each invitation is reviewed by the royal person concerned and her private secretary. The decision to attend is seldom a question of personal interest but how important the event is.

And the Queen Mother? I find she's tops with the Army, agricultural shows adore her, and her "unsaccharine" charm yet sympathetic understanding are just what are required for hospitals.

Frankly, it's easy to understand why everyone loves this extraordinary woman. She is so intensely feminine and uncomplicated.

She's the most serene woman I have ever seen. No one and nothing can faze her.

Take that unfortunate scene in Italy when a woman tried to throw herself at the Queen Mother's feet. She never turned a hair—just kept up her quiet smile to the general public and immediately asked officials that no harm come to the woman.

The Queen Mother's interest in people is almost phenomenal. When other members of the Royal Family (and heavens above, understandably!) begin to flag during the season and show it, Queen Elizabeth thrives.

She may forget a name (and she's heard thousands in the last 25 years) but rarely a face or where to place it.

Those cozy personal remarks that Queen Elizabeth is so famed for are seldom accidental either. She knows exactly what's what and insists on being well briefed on everyone she is likely to meet during the day.

In her private life, Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother is no blabber. She likes doing everything thousands of other grandmothers like to do.

She prefers novels and thrillers (Peter Cheyney is her favourite) to study biographies, and finds a good laugh at the music hall more relaxing than a symphony.

Scot At Heart

The real Queen Mother—the one who likes to walk in the rain, make bonfires and whistle—is still a complete Scot at heart.

Three times a week at Clarence House a piper from the London Scottish (of which she is Colonel-in-Chief) goes there just after 8 a.m. and pipes outside her bedroom while she is having breakfast.

And on evenings when she is completely alone at Clarence House, she prefers a light supper on a tray in front of the television set.

She always has a piece of needlework round about, but it's rarely ever touched. And she hates knitting.

She does not smoke herself and dislikes cocktails, though she is one of the most knowledgeable people in the country on champagne.

It's not true either that the Queen Mother fusses about her curves.

Only once or twice in her whole life has she bothered to diet. Nor does she agree with massage or experimental beauty treatments.

She has only been ill twice in her life and is never put out by headaches or colds.

As much as possible of the Queen Mother's touring this summer will be done by car. Though she doesn't drive herself, she has a Jaguar for long journeys and likes speeding... the faster the better. On long trips she will use Herons from the Queen's Flight.

On the car trips she likes to sing at the top of her voice. The Queen and Princess Margaret know by heart the old-time music hall songs which their mother has taught them.

When travelling with them or her ladies-in-waiting, it's invariably the Queen Mother who starts off with "Daisy, Daisy, give me your answer co..." Nor is she extravagant with clothes. She treats the pale pinks and blues that she wears in public as her royal robes.

Stockings

Her favourite clothes are tweed coats and skirts and simple silk dresses. This summer she will be wearing the clothes she had made for her visit to Paris and Italy.

During busy days her maid always slips a zip bag into the back of the car with a change of stockings, make-up and gloves should they be required.

While the Queen is in Canada, the Queen Mother is arranging her life so that she can spend as many weekends as possible at Royal Lodge, Windsor, with Princess Anne and Prince Charles during school off-days.

MEET THE FASCINATING FISH THEY CALL 'BIG BEN'

By JOHN MOYNIHAN

Among them is Sir Roger Conant, Tory MP for Rutland and Stamford. He is so fascinated by this monster that he visits him regularly every morning before going to the House.

FASCINATED, too, are those City businessmen who willingly give up their second cup of coffee at the expense account lunch and scamper down The Mall just for a peek at him.

Giant trout

FASCINATED are members of the Anglers Co-operative Association who have written to the Ministry of Works asking if they can catch this marvellous creature with a fly.

All this fuss in fact, concerns a giant rainbow trout or rather "Big Ben" as he has aptly been nicknamed, a proud native of the Jewel Tower of the Medieval Palace of Westminster.

The apple of Sir Roger's eye is considered to be all of 4lb., which is mighty big for a trout, especially a trout living in fresh water supplied by the Metropolitan Water Board, bang in the heart of grubby London.

Hence the commotion, among our learned anglers.

Sir Roger would like to go after "Big Ben" with a fly but thinks this venture would lead to an invasion of spotter's and television cameras. "An in-may said, "It would soon lead to chaos."

Mr. Buchanan invited me along to see the fish of the moment. It was the June 1st hour. Around the "moat" a band of excited, hurried businessmen poked umbrellas at the green, black water.

We saw a number of smaller trout but none that big and the fan club began getting impatient.

Sensitive

"I've been watching for hours," said a voice. "He's jolly sensitive today. Must be this dratted crowd."

Mr. Buchanan meanwhile was tossing bread into the moat. Then it happened. A piece of bread produced a ripple and then an enormous fish rose up from the depths, twisted for one brief moment as it took the bread in a flash of the blue and silver, and then disappeared.

It was incredible, spectacular.

It had indeed been a moment to remember. Sir Roger's wonder was understandable.

It is a ritual among fly casters that a 4lb. trout warrants a bottle of sherry if caught. I suggest the man who lands this prize should be presented with a crate.

But "Big Ben" is likely to stay on in the moat. And that, after all, will be a good thing for those who like watching such beauty in the big city.

Two-Day Whitsun Meeting Opens Tomorrow

CRAMPTON AND SANDERS LEAD IN SAM SNEAD GOLF TOURNEY

White Sulphur Springs, May 14. Two youngsters — Bruce Crampton of Australia and Doug Sanders of Cedarhurst, Georgia — putted their way to the first day lead in the Sam Snead festival golf tournament today. Each shot a three-under-par 67. They held a one-stroke margin over six others — Sam Snead, the host pro, Johnny Revella, Mike Souchak, Dutch Harrison, Bob Taski and Frank Boynton. Veteran Jim Turnesa and Henry Killman were two strokes behind with 69's.

ACCURATE PUTTERS

On this raw, windy day, with the temperature climbing to a chilly 50 degrees, Crampton and Sanders wielded accurate putters. Sanders had four birdies and one bogey in shooting his 67. Crampton had six birdies, one bogey and a double bogey. Snead, bidding for fifth title in the tournament named for him, muffed a chance to tie Crampton and Sanders for the opening day lead when a nine-foot putt on the 18th green barely missed the cup-put.

ENGLISH CRICKET REVIEW

Highly Satisfying Centuries By 3 Young Batsmen

London, May 14. Three young batsmen hit highly satisfying centuries in English cricket today. They were Oxford University's stylish Indian player Abbas Baig, Denis Baldry of Hampshire and Norman Hill of Nottinghamshire.

Baig, a 19-year-old Yorkshire batsman, hit 132 in three and a quarter hours with a wide range of strokes. His innings was in complete contrast to the dull batsmanship displayed by the Indian touring team who needed more than a day to make 249 against Surrey at the Oval.

Richardson Fails

Baldry is the all-rounder released by Middlesex and now engaged by Hampshire who put MCC out for 148 and then scored 382 for six declared. In MCC's second innings Peter Richardson playing his first match since the Australian tour was out for eight for the second time in the game.

Hill battled five hours to score 128 for Nottinghamshire against Leicestershire. It was the left-hander's third century of his career. Three experienced batsmen fell victims to the "nervous nineties" today. Bernard Constable of Surrey scored 91 against the Indians, Alan Oakman of Sussex was out for 93 against Gloucestershire, while Arnold Hamer of Derbyshire missed a century by six runs against Warwickshire.

Derbyshire played themselves into a strong position at Coventry thanks to Hamer's attacking innings and fine fast-medium bowling by 38-year-old Les Jackson who took six Warwickshire wickets for 63. One of the day's best bowling feats was that of Jim Loxton the Somerset fast medium bowler who took four Cambridge wickets for 33 runs in one deadly spell at Fenner's.

Jim McConnon though suffering from a split spinning finger took eight Worcestershire wickets for 62 with his off-spinners. He helped Glamorgan, 76 behind on first innings, to get back into the game as they finished needing 100 to win with all their second innings wickets intact. —Reuter.

SURREY GAIN FIRST INNINGS LEAD AGAINST INDIANS

London, May 14.

The Indian cricket tourists, making the most of their limited attacking resources, offered a stout fight before yielding the first innings lead to Surrey at the Oval, in the second day of their match against the county.

Though shocked by losing their remaining three wickets for a single in the first 15 deliveries of the day, the tourists struck back so quickly that Surrey lost their opening batsmen for four runs. Then Barrington and Constable put a stand of 169 for the third wicket.

Surrey followers who thought that this had given their favourites the whip hand were disillusioned in the 45 minutes before tea when both partners in the big stand as well as Eric Bedser and Swales were dismissed, leaving Surrey with six men out for 200.

Curiously Out

Barrington and Constable, although not always sure in their timing, batted attractively with many fluent drives and quick cuts among the 11 boundaries each hit. Barrington was out in a curious fashion. He hit the left-handed Nadekar to cover and ran. As Gaekwad's throw knocked off the leg ball, Barrington and the bowler collided near the crease. The batsman stood still until the square leg umpire, P.A. Gibb, made it clear he had been run out.

It looked as if Barrington thought he had been obstructed in trying to reach his crease, but the Maharajah of Baroda, manager of the Indian team, echoed a general view that "if there had been obstruction it was entirely accidental."

Umpire Gibb said "Barrington was out of his ground and so he was run out." He would not comment on the collision of the players.

India's good fight was inspired by Gupte, their leg-break and googly bowler and by wicket-keeper Joshi who caught three men out of the first seven dismissed. Gaekwad wisely retained the old ball well past the 200 mark as Surrey struggled for the lead which thanks to spirited hitting by Lock and Laker they gained with three wickets in hand.

Lively 30

Lock hit six fours in his lively 30 but the wily Gupte and his fellow spinner Bedser took the last three wickets for a single so that Surrey's first innings advantage amounted to only four runs. Gupte varied his leg-breaks astutely with the googly and top-spinner in returning the praiseworthy analysis of six for 77 in a total of 253.

The Surrey second innings of just over 60 an hour pointed a moral for the Indians, but against steady bowling, Contractor and Joshi, their opening pair, managed to score only half as fast. Still, they survived the last 75 minutes and in making 42 runs put India 38 ahead with ten wickets in hand.

Scores

Close of play scores were:

INDIA: First Innings — 249 (Manpreet 148, Loader 5-37, Bedser 3-33).

Second Innings — 42 for no wicket (Joshi 19, Contractor 10).

SURREY: First Innings — 253 (Constable 91, Barrington 85, Lock 30, Gupte 6-77) — AFP.

Here are my estimates of the chances:

FIRST RACE

Talkabout Stakes: From 1½-Mile Post. The opening event tomorrow is a sprint race confined to 1959 ponies, which have not won any Stake money. All will carry 147 lbs. In my estimation the result will be decided between Rob Roy (M. Samarcq), Maglo Feet (I. Plumbly), Ida (K. Kwok) and New Record (C. W. Wong). Rob Roy has been moving along quite nicely in the work-outs and under the capable handling of Samarcq should have a good chance of scoring a 2-3. Maglo Feet is looking the picture of fitness and should be there or thereabouts. Others who may be in at the finish are Ida and New Record.

SECOND RACE

Tsun Wan Stakes (First Section): One Mile. This is another race for 1959 ponies which have not won any Stake money. Each carries 147 lbs. I don't think I shall be far wrong in stating that the ponies to watch are Hongkong Sapphire (C. H. Bentley), Good Scamper (M. Samarcq), Pienly (K. Kwok) and Welfare (Allan Chinn). Judging from its track work during morning training, I think Hongkong Sapphire has the best recommendation for the premier position. There is Good Scamper to be reckoned with as it is now coming on nicely in training. Pienly and Welfare are not to be disregarded, as they can give a good account of themselves over this distance.

THIRD RACE

Saiyungpun Handicap: Six Furlongs. Class 8 ponies will figure in this event and among the entries I favour Gisha (P. Plumbly) to take the major prize with Tabitha T. (Chun Kit) and Beautiful Phoenix (H. K. Hung) fighting out the second and third positions. A pony which could cause an upset is Tai Ping Shan (Alex Lam).

FOURTH RACE

Chungwan Handicap: One Mile. This event will be fought out by Class 3 ponies and, judging from its last outing, Top Speed (E. S. Wong) will probably win. Opposition is likely to come from City of Victoria (Albert Lam).

FIFTH RACE

Tsun Wan Stakes (Second Section): One Mile. This race is confined to 1959 ponies, which have not won any race yet. Winners of not more than $1,750 in stakes will carry 142 lbs, winners of not more than $3,000 in stakes 145 lbs, and winners of not more than $4,000 in stakes 147 lbs. In spite of its defeat in the Whits Stakes at the 11th Race Meeting over the two mile post, Golden Gypsy (T. H. Yau) is showing good form in morning gallops and is good to follow as an outsider.

SIXTH RACE

Shankwan Handicap: One Mile. In this race, confined to Class 5 ponies, an interesting finish should eventuate. Bes Raider (C. W. Wong) will undoubtedly be made hot favourite and on form it should certainly have a good chance of winning. Bengal Lancer (K. Kwok) is the next bet, but National Delight (Allan Chinn) is not bad as this pony has shown good

SEVENTH RACE

Tai Hang Handicap (First Section): From 2-Mile Post. First batch of Class 3 ponies will battle out the finish in this race. Looking over the ponies entered I don't think I should be far wrong in saying that the winner will come from one of the following: Helicon (K. Kwok), Butterfly (Chun Kit), Victoria Peak (P. Plumbly) and Norse King (M. Samarcq). Helicon, which won the St George's Cup at the 11th Race Meeting over 1½ miles, has been penalized by a day at the finish. I don't really expect that the additional poundage will hinder its chance of winning again. Butterfly and Victoria Peak are good over this distance and should have a say at the finish. Norse King, a big disappointment in its last appearance, is out to make full amends this time as the shorter route should be more to its liking.

EIGHTH RACE

Shamshulpo Handicap: One Mile. Mylanon (K. Kwok) presents a handsome proposition here as the pony has shown great improvement and should start a firm favorite. Opposition is expected from Belved (P. Plumbly) which has put on a lot of conditioning during morning gallops. I am of the opinion that it stands a very good chance of chalking up a belated triumph here.

NINTH RACE

Pokfulam Handicap: From 1½-Mile Post. In this sprint race for Class 5 ponies it will be a difficult problem to spot the winner. In view of its previous win in the Cumberland Handicap over this distance at the 11th Race Meeting for Class 6 ponies, Mayfair (H. Fatyad) will no doubt have a good chance of scoring a win here should it get off to a good start. With other capable sprinters among the entries such as Courrier (M. Samarcq), Co-ordination (K. Kwok), Bonny Boy (H. K. Hung) and Viewpoint (T. H. Yau), the pace should be fast. The finish should be fought out among these five.

TENTH RACE

Tai Hang Handicap (Second Section): From 2-Mile Post. This is the final event of the first day and is confined to the Second Section of Class 3 ponies. Ability (P. Y. T. Wei) appears to have the best recommendation for a win here. The pony is watch, however, is Blacely Yours (Wan Shek Ming). It has been showing improved form lately and it will give Ability a keen fight. There is also Follow Me (Alex Lam) to be considered as this pony has been making rapid improvement and the distance should suit it. National Delight (Chun Kit) is considered good enough to extend the other starters and may cause an upset here.

POKFULAM HANDICAP MAY BE MOST EXCITING RACE IN TEN-EVENT PROGRAMME

With the advent of summer, the Thirteenth (Whitsun) Race Meeting at Happy Valley tomorrow afternoon and Monday will conclude the Colony's 1958-1959 racing season. The 1959-1960 season opens on October 3.

Ten events are down for decision tomorrow, with the first race starting at 2 p.m.

On Monday there will be 12 races and the first bell will be rung at 11:30 a.m., with the first race starting at noon. The tiffin interval will follow the running of the fourth race, and the first bell after tiffin will be rung at 2:30 p.m.

CHISOX CLIMB CLOSER TO AMERICAN LEAGUE BASEBALL LEADERS

Only Half A Game Behind After 14-6 Win Over Bosox

Boston, May 14.

The Chicago White Sox swept to their sixth straight win today, pounding out 19 hits and climbing to half a game of the American League top with a 14-6 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Veteran Early Wynn provided the White Sox with their 10th triumph in 12 games as he chalked up his fifth victory of the year and the 254th of his Major League career. Turk Own finished up for the 39-year-old righthander.

This victory placed Wynn 21st on the list of all-time Big League winners and moved him ahead of such greats as Carl Hubbell, Amos Rusie and Red Faber.

Home runs by Del Ellis, Earl Torgerson and Jim Landis helped the White Sox to inch to half a game behind the league-leading Cleveland Indians, who were idle today.

Don Buddin homered for Boston.

Left-hander Billy Hoeltz, obtained from the Detroit Tigers two weeks ago, failed to last the first inning and suffered his third loss against one triumph.—UPI.

National League

New York, May 14. Mike McCormick tossed a three-hitter for the San Francisco Giants and Willie Mays slammed his second three-run homer in as many days today to hand the Philadelphia Phillies an 8-0 beating.

The 20-year-old McCormick pitched hitless ball until pinch hitter Grady Hatton broke the spell with one out in the eighth when he doubled.

Ninth-inning singles by Gene Freese and Chico Fernandez were the only other hits McCormick allowed as he struck out nine batters, walked only one and posted his first victory of the season.

Mays drove in four of the Giants' runs. He hit his three-run homer in the fourth and when Leon Wagner followed with another homer, loser Ray Semproch was relieved by Taylor Phillips. Daryl Spencer homered off Phillips in the fifth.

Gus Bell's two-run singles in the ninth and Joe Nuxhall's three-hit pitching paced the Cincinnati Reds to a 2-0 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

Later Dave Hillman held the Reds to two singles until Johnny Temple and Vida Pinson singled in the ninth. A walk by reliever Don Elston to Frank Robinson filled the bases and Bell followed with his single. Nuxhall retired the last 10 batters in picking up his second victory.

Booed Before The Match He Becomes Brazil's Golden Boy Overnight

Rio De Janeiro, May 14.

"Veteran" winger Julinho, the man the crowd booed when he went out to play against England yesterday, woke up today to find himself Brazil's "Golden Boy" of football.

The newspapers lavished praise on him for his second minute goal which put his side on the road to victory and the part he played in the second, and the fans mobbed him.

But no doubt Julinho was pondering on the fickleness of public opinion over sport.

The Villain

Only yesterday he was the villain, the man who dared play in place of Garrincha, "The Great," the "Brazilian Stanley Matthews" and wizard of the wing who cast so many spells during Brazil's World Cup triumph.

Julinho who has been away from Brazil playing in Italy was the choice of trainer Pele.

He remembered the winger's excellent form in the 1954 World Cup. It was his decision to drop Garrincha, out of form since the South American championships.

There was a howl of protest from newspapers and public. Despite his poor showings, Garrincha enjoys tremendous prestige.

Julinho was hissed and booed by the crowd as he ran on to the pitch at the Maracana Stadium. By the end of the match the crowd was cheering every step he took.

Vindication

Julinho's display was a complete vindication of trainer Pele's insistence that he and not the supporters or the newspapers should pick the national side.

The new villain is the former hero, the 18-year-old inside-left Pele, acclaimed after his wonder displays in Sweden. He was named along with the Brazilians' left-half Orlando, the man he replaced in the first half—as the most feeble of all.

Pele was accused by sports writers and the public of having given the worst performance of his entire career. They criticised—none too gently—his lack of speed, accuracy and "dynamism."

Generally the newspapers thought Brazil should have done much better than only scored two goals against an England side described here as very weak.—AFP.

Aly Khan's Fiorentina Wins The Irish 1,000 Guineas

Newbridge, May 14. Prince Aly Khan's filly Fiorentina, ridden by Australian jockey George Moore, today won the Irish 1,000 Guineas in a three-way photo finish.

Florentina, the even money favourite, won by a neck from Mr. S. J. Parr's Lilet (7 to 1) with Mr. B. Kerr's Clara Bow a 33 to 1 outsider, a short head further away, third of the 19 runners.

The race, carrying £1,000 in added money, was delayed for almost an hour when a heavy thunderstorm broke over the course.

This is the third classic Prince Aly Khan has won in the British Isles this season. He took the Newmarket 2,000 Guineas and 1,000 Guineas with Taboun and Petite Etolie a fortnight ago.—Reuter.

Johansson's Unusual Contract With American Manager

New York, May 14.

Cus D'Amato, manager of heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, denied tonight "all speculations" that he has either a direct or indirect financial interest in a friendly American manager's contract with challenger Ingemar Johansson of Sweden.

D'Amato's denial was given in a written statement to the press because of various stories that appeared in New York newspapers today about Johansson's unusual contract with Harry Davidow of Brooklyn.

Johansson said yesterday he was forced to sign a five-year contract with Davidow in order to get the title fight with Patterson at Yankee Stadium on June 25.

Advised

Tonight D'Amato said that when Ingemar first visited New York late last year he said he had no manager at that time, although his father Jens had in the past served as his pilot.

D'Amato then advised him to get a manager who would have authority to represent him in boxing matters.

The statement continued: "I would have to be legally certain who his manager was before I would be willing to enter into a Patterson-Johansson fight contract with him as the challenger. And I thought it would be much better if he had an American manager whom we both could trust, and who would be sympathetic with our views."

Able Represented

D'Amato said Johansson then asked him to recommend a manager and then returned to Sweden. In late December or early January, D'Amato telephoned Davidow, a former associate of mine, and told him of the Johansson negotiations, and asked him if he would be interested in representing Johansson.

The statement concludes: "On or about January 28 or 29, Ingemar, represented by his own attorney, Mr. Justin Golensbach, concluded his management agreement with Mr. Davidow, who was represented by D'Amato's attorney, Edwin Stephen Schweig.

"The fact remains that Johansson was able represented by his own lawyer and the

THIS ONE OUT

If there is one thing that is more likely to disturb a bishop than another it is the sound of rock 'n' roll and the hit of the cha-cha. Particularly when the rhythm is rising inescapably around his bedroom.

Which is why it is that on Thursday, June 11, the Bishop of London, Dr H. Montgomery Campbell, has a note in his diary: "Sleeping at Lambeth Palace. Lambeth being, of course, the home of the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr Fisher.

For his own home, Fulham Palace, a little further up-river, is being taken over for the night by the organisers of a charity ball.

At six minutes a couple, it will be one of London's socially more ambitious evenings—with Princess Alexandra heading the guests list. But such niceties are lost on the bishop.

He'll hide

"My father," explained his daughter, Miss Montgomery Campbell, tactfully last night, "is not a dancing man. And the ball goes on till after 2 a.m. So he will greet Princess Alexandra and will stay for refreshments. He will leave when dancing begins and hide himself in Lambeth Palace."

A FUR IS ALWAYS SAFE

The most lavish birthday present I have heard of for many a day is the one film star Jack Hawkins has given his wife Doreen.

It is a full-length sable coat that has set Mr Hawkins back by a sum that runs well into four figures.

Jack told me from his Putney home: "It was a very premature present, a month or so previous in fact. But my wife completely fell in love with it, and then our eldest son, Nicholas, who is 10, clinched it by saying: 'Daddy, I want it!'"

"Now I am waiting to see what I get for my birthday," said Jack ominously. "Probably it will be something generally useful in the house."

UNHAPPY ENDING

LADY JANE VANE-TEMPEST - STEWART'S

venture into the world of furniture design has ended unhappily and expensively. She has called a receiver into the business of which she was chief shareholder. Now she has been bought out by her manager, Philip Pound.

Trouble began when the trustees of Lady Jane's estate, she the sister of Lord Londonderry and was a lady-in-waiting to the Queen at the Coronation, cast quizzical eyes over the profit returns of the modernistic furniture design business in the Kings Road, Chelsea.

In his office in the City, chartered accountant Mr H. C. Rudolph told me: "I was called in because Lady Jane was of the opinion, through her advisers, that her security was in jeopardy. 'The business was, in fact, losing money heavily. Lady Jane held £5,000 out of a total of £10,000. The other £5,000 had been put up by the family of her partner Mr Andy Garnett."

In Chelsea, where he is a familiar figure around the boutique-like showroom, designed Philip Pound, in drapery trousers and narrow-lapelled jacket, took up the story.

"The business was doing well but we were unfortunately under-capitalised. The result that the more we sold the more we tended to lose," he told me.

10s. in the £

"I'm afraid that as we were at the moment, Jane was not lucky if she sees 10s. in the £ back on her investment."

"She was my constant supporter in the whole venture and from time to time would help me out by doing deliveries in her car. But when her trustees realised what was happening they more or less insisted she called in a receiver and get what she could of her capital out."

"But we have remained on the best of terms through all this."

The company was put on the market and a bid made by a big furniture combine providing they could take the services of Mr Pound with it. Mr Pound objected and put in a counter-bid of his own.

"It was just a bit bigger than the existing offer so now I'm in full command," said Mr Pound. "I have tremendous plans. There is every prospect of big expansion in the industrial field."

"Then four years ago, while I was working at Guildford, I got married. Father did not know about it till the ceremony was over. Then he came harping down to Guildford and gave us his blessing and a four-day honeymoon trip to Paris."

"That was the last time I saw father. After that there were spasmodic letters. The last one came two years ago, while he was out East."

"Since then there has been no word at all. And Nicholas is two and a half years old now."

"I would just like to see father to see him. I know father gets terribly caught up in what he is doing at any particular moment, but it would be nice to see him."

No word

His reason for not "bringing Leila, friends say, is that he does not think their love could survive in film social circles."

Talk, dark, and humorous Peter Lean, representative in a car firm, told me about his life with father.

"I could never get very close to father. I was at boarding school, and then I was doing my National Service. Father would take me on holiday sometimes, or else I would see him at the film studios."

DAVID LEAN AND LEILA DEVI

SEARCH FOR FATHER

DAVID LEAN, leading British film director, has returned secretly to Britain after two years in the East. And last week his 29-year-old son Peter telephoned me to ask: "Can you help me to find my father? I have not seen him for four years now, and I would like him to meet my two-year-old son, Nicholas."

Brilliant David Lean, the man who made "The Bridge on the River Kwai," has been away from his family for two years.

After making his Oscar-winning triumph, "Kwai," in Ceylon, he stayed out East beside a beautiful Indian girl called Leila Devi. Thrice married (all dissolved), he told "friends" that said-clad Leila was the only woman with whom he could find tranquillity.

Yet he left Leila behind in New Delhi when he flew into London two weeks ago. His purpose in returning was to settle plans for the making of his film on the life of Gandhi, in which Sir Alec Guinness will star.

His reason for not "bringing Leila, friends say, is that he does not think their love could survive in film social circles."

Talk, dark, and humorous Peter Lean, representative in a car firm, told me about his life with father.

"I could never get very close to father. I was at boarding school, and then I was doing my National Service. Father would take me on holiday sometimes, or else I would see him at the film studios."

The Casino enthusiast

FROM Monte Carlo last week I heard that ex-King Farouk is keeping the croqueters at the Casino up far into the small hours.

The 39-year-old Farouk has taken a sabbatical at the Metropole Hotel.

Farouk arrived at the Casino's Salons Privés when play was finished at all but three tables. Smoking a long cigar, sipping mineral water, and mopping the top of his bald head with

Quiet guest in the royal yacht

AN unpublicised guest on board the royal yacht Britannia throughout the Pacific tour that Prince Philip has just completed was German business man Dr. Wolfgang Breitling. While the names of the Prince's other guests were announced publicly, Dr Breitling's presence on board the yacht remained a well-guarded secret throughout the journey.

Very little has ever been written about the doctor, although he has now become one of the Prince's closest friends.

But it is interesting to note that he accompanied the Prince on his last major cruise in the Britannia—his world tour of 1956-7. On that occasion, too, his presence aboard the yacht was never announced.

Michael and Susan moved away from the Dorchester a fortnight ago. "I was never my intention to stay there for more than two or three days or to remain there if Liz Taylor arrived with Eddie Fisher."

"We stayed two weeks at the Dorchester while looking for this place."

Rubbish Throwing Fined $210

Koo Kau, a 62-year-old man, of 31 Tai Hong Lane, ground floor, was this morning fined $210 with the alternative of six weeks and two days by Mr T. L. Yang at Central Magistracy, when he pleaded guilty to charges of throwing rubbish in the street and corruption.

On May 13, Koo went out of his house, and threw rubbish in the street.

A sanitary cooler, Wang Ming, who was in the vicinity, warned him and advised him not to do it.

The sanitary cooler asked his name and Koo became angry. When the cooler invited him to go to the Police Station, Koo offered the cooler $2 and said "Here is tea money, please do not arrest me."

New Streets

The names of four new streets in the Takawan District, Kowloon were published in the Government Gazette today.

These streets are Ming Lun Street, joining Takawan Road and Chun Sun Street, and Chun Sun, Hin Yin and Hin Yan Streets three parallel streets joining Malakoff Road and a Marine lot at the sea-front.

U.S. Consul

The Government Gazette notified today that His Excellency the Governor has re-appointed provisionally and pending instructions from the Secretary of State for the Colonies Mr S. Houston Lay as Consul for the United States in Hongkong.

The three had been found not guilty of murdering So Shiu-bor, a camp leader — on the night of November 10-17 last year.

A fourth accused, Choi To, who gave his age as 19, was alone found guilty of murder yesterday. He was remanded until next Tuesday for medical evidence on his age.

Six Charged

The Crown's case had been that the camp leader was beaten to death with bricks inside a hut.

Mr D.N.E. Rea, Crown Counsel, said today that altogether six people were charged with conspiracy to escape from the centre.

Of the six, one had been convicted of murder. Two had already pleaded guilty to conspiracy to escape and had been dealt with.

Mr Rea said the camp in question was one in which young men were taught trades. They had considerable freedom after some time inside and were entitled to weekend leave.

Crown Counsel said all six inmates had been seen on a number of occasions talking together in low tones shortly before the incident.

The Plot

On the night of November 10-17 the escape was carried out. In the course of this, the camp leader was killed.

All the accused were arrested shortly after not far from the centre.

Writings found on paper in possession of the three accused pointed to the conspiracy that had been plotted between them.

Mr Rea said the first accused had a previous conviction for possession of a forged document. The second had a conviction for larceny and housebreaking, and the third for possession of dangerous drugs.

Light Term

In mitigation, all three asked for a light term.

In passing sentence, Mr Justice Mills-Owens said two of their fellow-conspirators had been given nine months each, so he would pass the same sentence on them.

Used Chopper On Husband

A woman who suspected her husband was unfaithful wounded him with a chopper while he was asleep, was sentenced to three months by Mr T. L. Yang at Central Magistracy this morning.

Mui Ngan-yip, (30), of 191 Queen's Road East, ground floor, pleaded guilty.

Defence Force Promotions

The Government Gazette notified today that 2/Lieut P. W. M. Farquharson has been promoted to the rank of Lieutenant and Captain I. G. Daniel to the rank of Major at Headquarters, Royal Hongkong Defence Force.

The Gazette also notified that Major G. H. Calvert has been permitted to retire from the Hongkong Regiment as from April 17.

Social Welfare

The Rev. Fr P. J. Howarth, SJ, has been appointed a member of the Social Welfare Advisory Committee, the Government Gazette notified today.

Banking Committee

Mr H. Wardle has been appointed a member of the Banking Advisory Committee in the absence of Mr E. J. Thompson, the Government Gazette notified this morning.

U.S. General In Colony

General Laurence S. Kuter, Commander-in-Chief of US Air Force in the Pacific, arrived this morning by USAF plane for a night's stopover as the guest of Sir Edric Bell, Commandant, British Forces, Hongkong, at Flagstaff House. The General was accompanied by his wife.

The General has been appointed Commander-in-Chief, North American Air Defence Command and will assume his new duties late in July.

Meeting the General on arrival were Col H. E. Kofahl, US Air Force Liaison Officer and Mrs Kofahl, and Major D. G. Gill, Military Assistant to the Commander, British Forces.

PLANS FOR ROAD WORK ANNOUNCED BY GOVERNMENT

Work will start shortly on the reconstruction and resurfacing of the busy junction at Robinson Road and Seymour Road to provide better facilities to vehicular and pedestrian traffic.

BANQUET FOR THE VULTURES

Kano, May 14. Thousands of vultures, the grisly scavengers of Kano, flapped away into the countryside yesterday after the scent of carrion, depriving the city of a macabre touch of local colour.

The city authorities, fearing that the sight of the vultures along the city wall might upset the Duchess of Gloucester, dumped carrion outside the city to lure away the birds.

A city elder commented, "on this festive occasion even those vultures had a banquet."—China Mail Special.

More Reports

Of Eruption On The Sun

Munich, May 14. A sunspot about 50 times as large as the earth, within which are continuous violent eruptions, has been under observation from the Bavarian Alps since yesterday afternoon.

Officials at the Observatory on the Wendelstein mountain said the eruptions had reached the highest strength that it has hitherto been possible to measure.

There was no danger for the atmosphere or for the earth's atmosphere, they said, and to judge from the sunspot's size the eruptions would be visible for ten days.—Reuter.

Woman On Drug Charge

Cheung Sau-ling, a 27-year-old housewife, of 31 Fort Street, third floor, was remanded for seven days in gaol custody by Mr T. L. Yang at Central Magistracy this morning for possession of 23.5 lbs. of barbitone without a licence.

Defendant was allowed bail of $10,000, half cash and half surety. The hearing was fixed on May 26.

The improvement will result in the straightening of the existing dangerous curve in Robinson Road which, in turn, will facilitate the bus access into Seymour Road.

Provision is also being made for pavements and pedestrian crossings, as well as for the installation of road islands, to give greater safety to the school children in the neighbourhood.

The project forms part of the long-term plan to widen Robinson Road. It will not, however, alter the present one-way traffic in Seymour Road. Work is expected to take six months to complete.

Boundary Street

Today's Government Gazette calls for tenders for the reconstruction of the stretch of Boundary Street between Waterloo Road and Granby Road in Kowloon.

The existing surface of the thoroughfare will be broken up and resurfaced in concrete with a macadam carpet. Work will begin in about one month's time and take three months to complete.

The length of roadway to be reconstructed is about 1,900 feet. The reconstructed road will have a carriageway of 40 feet and ten-foot-wide pedestrian paths on both sides.

NT Roads

Two earth roads in the New Territories are to be resurfaced with hard tops to provide better communication facilities to villagers.

About 3,000 feet of Hung Shui Kiu Road, in the Yuen Long area, will be levelled and resurfaced in tar-macadam. The new road will be twelve feet wide and will have a two-foot verge on either side.

The other road, which is to be resurfaced in concrete, is the Yuen Long Bund Road, situated between the fish ponds at Yuen Long.

When work is completed in about three months' time, the Bund Road will be about 600 feet long.

Catchwater

Another concrete-lined catchwater, approximately 8,500 feet long, is to be constructed from the head of Tai Lam Chung Valley running westward to Ma On Kong.

It is part of the series of catchwaters which lead down to the reservoir at Tai Lam Chung from the surrounding hills.

Work is expected to begin in about two months' time and take 12 months to complete.

Annual Meeting Report

Since January 1954, the number of gas-consumers in Hongkong has increased by more than fifty per cent and last year a record amount of over 700 million cubic feet of gas was used.

HK Auxiliary Police Appointments

The following appointments in the Hongkong Auxiliary Police Force, effective from January 30, were notified in the Government Gazette today:

Mr M. W. Turner to be Assistant Commissioner (Auxiliary) and Commandant of the Hongkong Auxiliary Police Force.

Mr E. C. van Helden to be Senior Superintendent (Auxiliary) and Deputy Commandant.

Mr G. M. Goldsack to be Senior Superintendent (Auxiliary).

Messrs O. R. Sedick, M. A. de Sousa, T. W. Buckton, Mok Hing-wins, Mr. G. G. To be Superintendents (Auxiliary).

Messrs R. S. Hownam-Meek, Ramon T. S. Young, Yu Kien-leung, George T. F. Lee, H. E. Alers, Karam Shun, Henry F. H. Yu, K. Fock-chuen, and Ching Hing-chow to be Assistant Superintendents (Auxiliary).

Mr Sheikh Hakim Khan to be Acting Assistant Superintendent (Auxiliary).

The Gazette also notified that effective from May 11, Mr van Helden was appointed Acting Commandant of the Hongkong Auxiliary Police Force during the absence of Mr Turner, and Mr G. G. To be Acting Deputy Commandant.

Mr T. W. Carr, Inspector (Auxiliary), was appointed Acting Assistant Superintendent (Auxiliary) as from May 8.

Eagle Gets Licence

He said, "Only time will tell whether or not Eagle will be successful. I feel that Boac should be permitted to operate this route without this competition. I don't think the low-fare service will create a new traffic, but it will divert traffic from Boac."

On the other side are the travel agents.

Mr S. W. Clark, manager of The Travel Advisers said, "On the whole, this is a good thing. I do not think it will affect Boac very much, if at all."

The low-fare service, he said, will attract another section of the community of Hongkong people in a lower wage bracket. Then there were the people on their own out here who did not get paid leave. They too would benefit from the new service, he said.

Best Thing

"Of course, we would not like to see the market crowded with low-fare traffic."

Mr Fred Clemo, manager of Hongkong Tours and Travel service is a staunch advocate of the low-fare service.

"This is the best thing that could happen," he said when informed that Eagle Aviation had been granted the licence in Hongkong.

"Of course, the passengers will not get luxury, but they will get to their final goal much cheaper."

Whether the Eagle Aviation can operate successfully, he said, "is another matter."

"I do not think it will attract a lot of customers from Boac," he added.

"Lower paid people should have some assistance," he said. He doubted whether the low-fare service would affect any of the airlines going to London.
